TREES AND SHRUBS

Special Quotations on Large Quantities

Adenostoma fasciculatum, "Greasewood." A pretty shrub, with small clustered, needle-like leaves and white flowers in large feathery panicles. Especially valuable for dry places. In 4 inch pots, 1 to 1½ ft., each 50c.

Aesculus californica, "California Buckeye," in gal. cans, 9 to 15 inches, each 50c.

Arbutus menziesii, "Madrone," in 5 inch pots, 12 to 15 inches, each $1; 2 feet, each $1.50.

Arctostaphylos manzanita, "Manzanita." (Ready about March.) In 4 inch pots, 8 to 12 inches, each 50c.

Atriplex lentiformis, "Desert Salt Bush." Silvery grey foliage. Very pretty as single specimens, planted in groups or for a hedge. In 2½ inch pots, each 15c; doz. $1.50.

Andibertia stachyoides, "Black Sage," in 5 inch pots, 1½ to 2 feet, each 35c.
Calycanthus occidentalis, "California Sweet-scented Shrub," 3 to 4 feet, each 75c.

Carpenteria californica. A rare shrub, with handsome, glossy green foliage, and bearing large, fragrant, pure white flowers with yellow stamens. In 4 inch pots, 6 to 10 inches, each 60c; in 5 inch pots, 1 to 1½ feet, each $1.

Ceanothus, "California Wild Lilac." The Ceanothus is among the most desirable of our native shrubs and particularly useful for planting in dry places. The following are some of the most beautiful species:

Ceanothus arboreus. Large shrub or small tree. The finest of all the Ceanothi. Flowers in immense trusses, deep blue. In 4 inch pots, 15 to 18 inches, each 50c.

Ceanothus arboreus hybridus. A hybrid between C. arboreus and C. spinosus. Of very rapid growth with large glossy green foliage and immense trusses of bright blue flowers. In 4 inch pots, 12 to 15 inches, each 50c.

Ceanothus megacarpus. Thick leathery dark green foliage, white flowers. In 3 inch pots, each 35c.

Ceanothus spinosus. Bright green foliage, light blue flowers. In 3 inch pots, 6 to 10 inches, each 35c.

Ceanothus thyrsiflorus. Dark green glossy foliage, deep blue flowers. In 4 inch pots, 8 to 12 inches, each 25c.

Ceanothus verucosus. A thick growing much branched shrub with small, dark green, leathery leaves and long sprays of white flowers. In 3 inch pots, each 35c.

Cercidium torreyanum, "Palo Verde." A desert shrub or small tree, with bright green stems and leaves and yellow flowers. In 3 inch pots, each 35c.

Cercis occidentalis, "California Red-bud," "Judas Tree." In gal. cans, 1 to 1½ feet, each 25c.

Cercocarpus betulaeifolius, Mountain Mahogany. A handsome shrub, especially valuable for dry places. In 3 inch pots, 5 to 8 inches, each 25c.

Clematis lasiantra, "Wild Clematis." Beautiful climbing plant. Flowers creamy white. In 4 inch pots, each 25c.
